Invitation to attend Aboriginal Business Match (ABM) BC North – October 16 to 18 – Prince George

September 1, 2017

To Whom It May Concern,

Lheidli T'enneh is a community built on the strength of its people. With that strength, we are excited to once again host the Aboriginal Business Match (ABM) BC North and invite you to our traditional territory to attend the event from October 16 to 18, 2017 in Prince George.

Our priority is to further strengthen our Nation by providing education, training, and jobs to our community members. We believe this can be achieved by creating partnerships with companies that align with our values and other Aboriginal communities. Bringing ABM to Northern BC, where diversification possibilities are endless, will present an opportunity for us to showcase opportunities that are available in our region to attract the businesses and organizations, whose goals complement ours.

As Chief of Lheidli T'enneh, who has attended this hyper-productive event since 2012, I strongly encourage you to use ABM as a catalyst for positive change in your community, which can improve the standard of living through the creation of economic activity and wealth.

You will benefit from ABM no matter what stage of business or economic development your community reside. Some communities and companies attend to simply learn about who is interested in doing business with them, while others arrive with the specific objective to sell or buy goods and services, to find partners, investors and new business ideas.

ABM is about relationships. If your goal is to move your business priorities forward, ABM is the forum that will connect you with a national network of communities and companies that want to do good business with you.

If you would like to discuss if ABM is right for you, contact Raven Events at 1-604-483-3532 or info@ravenevents.ca.
